

MISSIONARY FAMILIES OF CHRIST

NOVEMBER 2026 NEWSLETTER

A Message from the Servant General

Dear Brethren,

We have released the Theme for 2027, and there's a video series that gives an initial explanation of the Theme. It's on YouTube, Instagram and Facebook - please find time to watch them. At the end, there will be a prize if you can name all the Cathedrals featured in the videos!

We are having an Onboarding Session for Chapter Servants here in Houston, since it is always good to be refreshed on what it means to lead the mini-MFC : the Chapter.

We continue to pray for the events in the world - war, elections, weather - as these all have an impact on members. Please reach out to them, and see how we can help as MFC. There is so much uncertainty and anxiety, and we can help by being brothers and sisters to everyone who are in these situations.

The mission continues, and if you can, share this newsletter to all your members, partners, clergy and family. It will help show what we are doing as a community all around the world!

FROM A CHILDHOOD DREAM TO A MISSIONARY LIFE

A sharing by Sis. Kat Moriones, MFC Missions Coordinator

I am Kat Moriones, the MFC Missions Coordinator. I am married to Bro. RJ Moriones, who is also a full-time missionary for LCSC. We are blessed with two beautiful children, Isabel and Juan.

Growing up, my family introduced me and my siblings to Jesus through the community. We participated in every activity and welcomed missionaries who visited our province into our home. Through these encounters, a desire began to grow in my heart, I wanted to become a missionary someday.

I actively participated in assemblies and conferences until I moved to Manila for college and slowly drifted away from attending community gatherings. After graduating, I started working as a teacher. It was during this time that I met a member of MFC who eventually invited me to join the Singles section.

In 2011, I graduated from my CLS and from that moment on, I never stopped attending. I became a household servant, a mission volunteer, and eventually made the decision to leave my teaching job and commit myself to becoming a full-time missionary.

Becoming a missionary has truly shaped me into the woman God wants me to be. It has led me to a life of service and helped me discover the beautiful vocation He has prepared for me. I offered the prime years of my life to the Lord, and looking back, I realized that He had been planting this desire in my heart all along. The missionaries I encountered during my childhood and the dream of becoming one someday were all part of His beautiful plan.

As I look back on my journey, I am continually reminded of God's faithfulness. He has shown me that He truly holds my future. He not only called me to serve Him but also led me to the right man He had prepared for me, my husband, RJ.

We met while serving in the community, surrounded ourselves with friends who shared the same faith, beliefs, and values, and eventually built a family of our own. Today, we are raising our children in MFC that has been such a powerful instrument of God's love and grace in our lives.

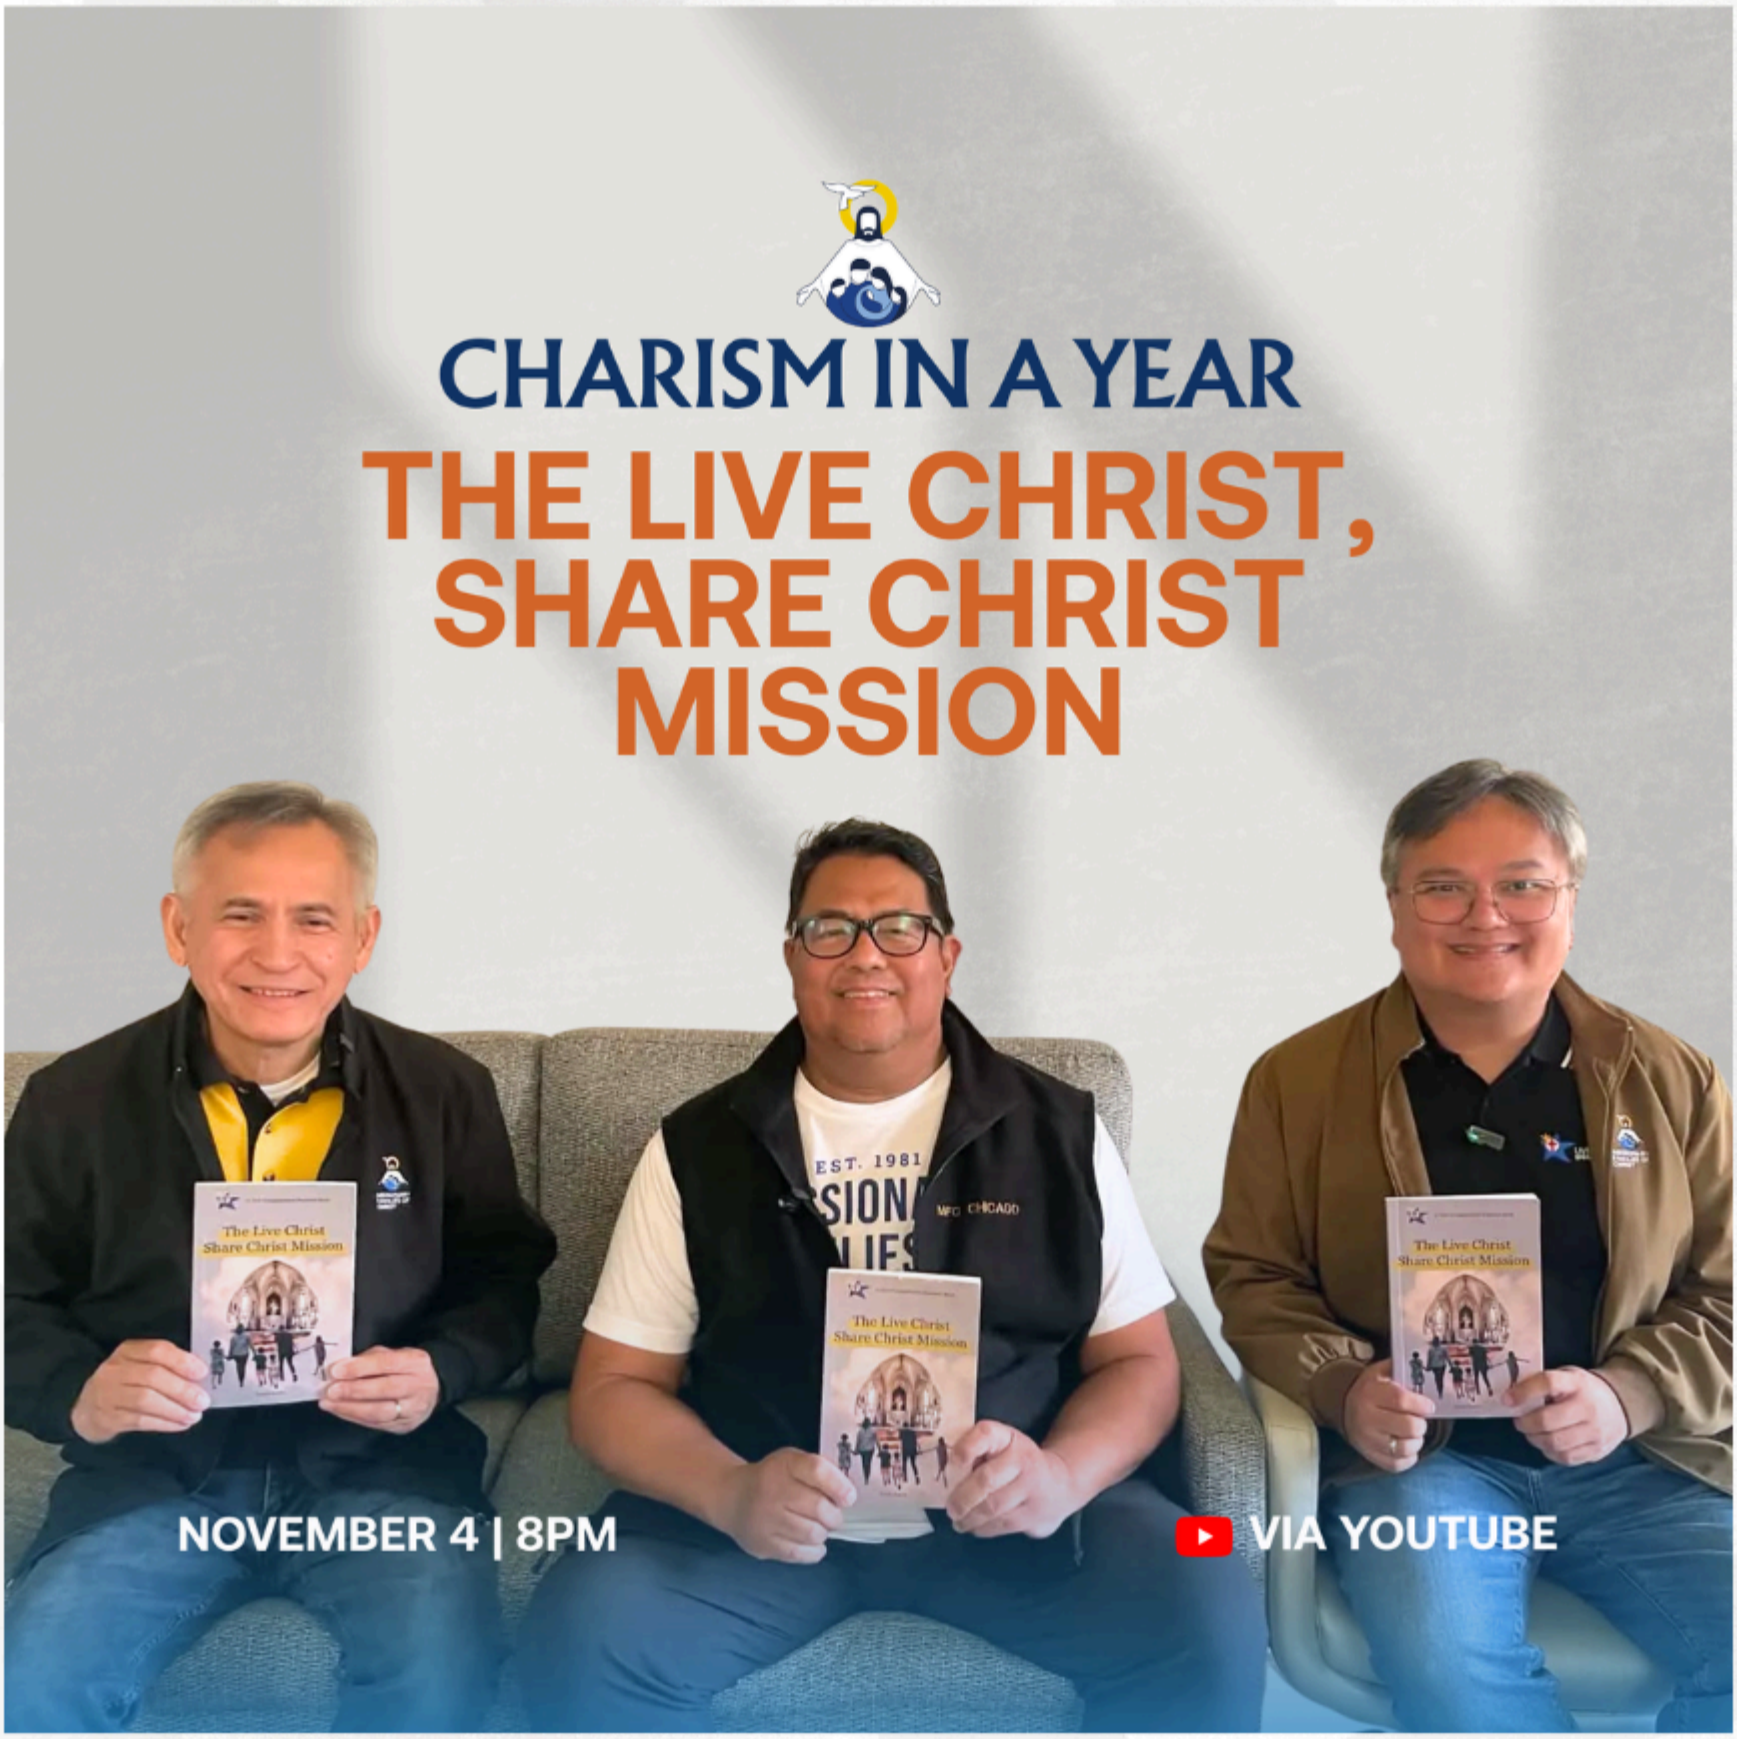

What began as a childhood dream has become a beautiful reality. God has been faithful in every season of my life, and I am blessed to witness how He continues to unfold His plans for me and my family. My journey as a missionary is far from over, and I look forward to continuing to serve Him, now not only as a missionary but also as a wife and a mother, trusting that He will continue to guide us wherever He calls us to go.
